Detail

We are all gathered together near the bottom of the elevator shaft. Talon and Hans are on foot and Kryssle and Luna arrive on the shuttle craft. After some discussion with the party Hans and Talon jump on top of the shuttle craft and the craft slowly moves into the elevator and starts down.

We believe we need to be at the very bottom floor and Luna is able to bring up the security system. The monitoring system shows that the bottom floor has the Load Stone and Sola's Time Ship, plus several other odd apertures. One of the apertures is vacillating between solid state and no state and it appears to show the goo world. The other apertures are not showing any other worlds at this time. There appears to be a display case holding some sort of what we believe to be a demon or devil sword from another dimension. There are a large number of the transformed humanoid creatures, with glowing orbs in their chest that we call Slime Guys. Luna continues to check out the information database as well as monitoring the security cameras.

Luna lands the shuttle craft at the very bottom and checks for info about the cube holding the Load Stone. He discovers that the display case controls let the Load Stone be wrapped in a container so that it can be safely carried by one person and loaded on board our ship.

Our plan is to divide the party (unfortunately) and try to gather the Load Stone while also taking control of Sola's time ship. Hans and Talon jump off the top of the ship. Talon begins to make his way over toward the Load Stone container and Hans and Luna began to work the controls to blow the emergency system. The blowing of the emergence system will clear the elevator shaft and facilitate our escape in the time ship.

Hans is attacked by one of the Slime Guys who shoves his arm into Hans chest while holding a glowing orb. Talon has much better luck, he's uninjured by any of the slime guys and he shrinks wraps the Load Stone and begins to move back toward the our shuttle craft.

Kryssle backs the shuttle craft toward the aperture to the goo world and fires the thrusters, unfortunately it's not close enough and a giant blue blob flops out into our dimension. Sky Blue fortunately climbs out of the ship and starts killing Slime Guys like it's a boring Thursday afternoon at bowling. Kryssle also starts to kill some of the slime guys with her sickle and heads over toward Sola's time ship. Talon massacres Slime Guys as they move toward the Time Ship. Sky Blue manages to kill the slime guy that has his arm jammed into Hans's chest. Sadly as the Slime Guy dies he releases the orb into Hans's chest. The party manages to gather together near Sola's time ship. Sky Blue is holding on to Hans and jams her proboscis into his chest and grabs the glowing orb.
