Details

The engagement party has ended and Rook has gone upstairs to call it a night. The "watcher" are starting to mill around in the streets in front of and behind the pub. It looks like they're waiting for a command to attack.

The Attack Begins

Talon can see people talking into the cuffs of their shirt sleeves, and three of them begin converging toward the front of the pub. Two climb up the window in the back and two went to the side door near the bathroom. Talon with his Hat of Disguise, mimics Rook and surprises the people at the front door. As they turn in shock, he hits them with a thunderwave. There's a huge clap of thunder and two of the guys are blown through the front door into the bar and the rest are knocked down. Everyone in the vicinity hears the ear splitting clap of thunder.

Steve and Nestor look around, and decide to wander away. They are partially drunk and do not want to get involved.

Hans draws his Eldritch pistol and kills one of the guys in the bar. Sky Blue turns, and with her spear, stabs another guy in the chest and he blows apart like a rag doll. Kryssle charges up the stairs to protect Rook. The crowd in the street, thinking Talon is Rook, shoot him with a dart, he is paralyzed. The thugs put a bag over what they think is Rook's head and start to carry Talon away.

Sky Blue pushes what's left of the guy off of her spear and out the window. There's a brief battle upstairs and Rook is also paralyzed. Kryssle is fighting one of the assailants and knocks the guy out the window so hard when he slams to the ground he scorpion kicks himself in the back of his own head.

Talon's captors are confused when "Steve" calls out, right before getting killed, that he had the target, because they thought they'd already bagged Rook.

Talon, disguised as Rook, is being carried away by several people. He's paralyzed but he can hear them plotting to get away. Some of the people in the bar attack Hans and he is paralyzed.

Kryssle knocks the second guy out of the window. He hits what's left of the first guy on the ground and smacks himself in the back of his own head with his feet. Unfortunately Kryssle is dazed and is paralyzed. Sky Blue is the only one not paralyzed.

The group of assailants put a bag on Kryssle and Hans heads and are dragging them out. Talon, while still paralyzed, decides to change his appearance by mentally communicating to his Hat of Disguise to look like someone that might normally be wandering on the street. It has no effect on his abductors.

The four of us are being dragged away.
